Seeking Volunteers for Memory Research

The Wayne State ELECTRA Study is studying use of EEG in finding the earliest signs of cognitive decline and Alzheimer’s disease in Black and African Americans.

You may be eligible if you are a Black or African American living in Detroit area, age 65 or older.

Contact us to complete a Phone Screening today!
Call 313-577-1692 or email ELECTRA@wayne.edu

Participants may receive up to $100 for initial visits.

Eligible volunteers will complete the following over the course of two study visits:

- Tests of memory and thinking
- Brief physical and neurological assessments
- Electroencephalogram (EEG): a non-invasive test to record the brain’s electrical signals using sensors placed on top of your head.